

“An Overnight At the Museum”

The Natural History Museum, Los Angeles

Friday, February 8, 2013

Travel around the world and back through time – all in one evening! Join us for a private Cedars-Sinai dinner and overnight adventure at the Natural History Museum. Eat with the animals of the African Savannah, take a trip to the past in the new Dinosaur Hall, and sleep among the mammals of the North American deserts and plains. Pack up your survival kit of sleeping bags, blankets, pillows and air mattresses (no tents) for your group of explorers and we'll do the rest. Enjoy dinner and entertainment including a scavenger hunt for the kids and a tour of the Dinosaur Hall exhibit. After an early buffet breakfast, you're welcome to stay and explore the museum further or head for home. Cost is $60 per adult and $40 per child under 12 years of age.

Not brave enough for an overnight expedition? Join us for dinner only and an evening of entertainment and discovery... and escape before the nocturnal animals come out! Cost is $50 per adult and $20 per child under 12 years of age.

Space is limited, so please call Cheryl Verne (in the office of Marjorie Santore Besson) at (310) 423-2681 to reserve your tickets!!
